

The Runner

Cape Fear Civil War Round Table

Our next meeting will be held on Thursday, 4 February 2016 at the Blockade Runner Resort – Nighthawk Room (275 Waynick Blvd, Wrightsville Beach) at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be at 7:00 followed by “a not to be missed” presentation. $35/attendee will include dinner and raffle tickets. Last chance to reserve your place at the dinner table will be January 31st – contact Bruce Patterson 910-794-8905.

Please join us at our February meeting as we continue our 2015-2016 Program Year. Visitors are always welcome – bring a friend or two. Each of our speakers strives to enlighten, entertain, and add to our knowledge of Civil War history. This serves our mission of encouraging education and research into that historic conflict.

An Evening with
Mrs. Thomas “Stonewall” Jackson:
Reflected Glory: Letters to Anna

While some people will find history as nothing more than the boring repetition of dull, cold and little cared-about facts, those members and guests who will be in attendance at our February dinner meeting will be treated to a special performance. Kelly Hinson will “share” the personal letters that Stonewall Jackson had written to his wife during the war.

Be forewarned, a tear will appear in many an eye (or at least a lump in several throats). For a while on this Thursday evening, history will become entertainment of the most special nature.

The following is Kelly's description of her one-woman play:

I researched, wrote and perform in first person & full mourning, the story of the beloved General's wife, Anna. Taken entirely from her own factual accounts, as written in her book, The Memoirs of Stonewall Jackson: by His Wife Mary Anna Jackson, I recount his views on secession, slavery and the Confederacy. I begin by telling of how they met and married, and the tragedies that shaped both their lives. I tell of their early years together in beautiful Lexington Virginia, where he finally acquired what he most desired in life: a home and family of his own. Then I read selected letters written by Gen. Jackson to his "esposita" during the War, adding Anna's own thoughts to the events he describes. I end with his tragic death, after his wounding by friendly fire, on May 10th, 1863. The play is an hour long and is performed by oil lamp light, enhancing the audience's feeling of stepping back in time to 1864. The War is still raging, the blockade still in effect, and times are hard for the Southern civilians, and even harder for the soldiers. Anna's story is a love story, but also a tragedy in that she is widowed and remains in mourning for the rest of her life. She and General Jackson both believed in "Divine Providence" and that God brought them together, that God brought him to VMI before the War, and that God protected him on the battlefield. The theme of God and his religious views is central to the play.

Southern Currency
During the War Between the States

David Meisky gave a most interesting and informative presentation about the currency issued by the Confederate government, state governments, local banks and Union counterfeiters during the 1861-1865 war. What was a subject little covered in most Civil War histories, David made currency a relevant issue that any Civil War student needed to learn about to understand another facet of the war.

 Thoughts *****

I am a little distracted. This issue of The Runner is the shortest that I have ever delivered to our membership..... While several may think this a good thing, my thoughts are with my daughter and her family as she awaits the birth of a daughter on February 14th. If history does indeed repeat itself, baby girl will be here before Valentine's Day.
